

Romanian Journal of Fiscal Policy

Volume 5, Issue 1(8), January - June 2014

Editorial

Romanian Journal of Fiscal Policy aims at improving the communication among academic staff, researchers and policy makers worldwide, also bridging the gap between them. Since its releasing in 2010, our journal has constantly supported several academic events, hence encouraging young researchers to submit their work as to increase their visibility. RJFP has carefully selected the papers presented at the conferences, assisted the authors during the review process for them to improve their work as they to finally publish one quality article. With the help of our external referees, we believe that in the end we manage to accomplish what we are aiming at.

For this issue, we decided to publish three articles which had previously been presented at conferences organized in 2013 and 2014 by our partners which we are happy to introduce them to you.

The International Network for Economic Research (INFER) is a non-profit organization supporting science and research in all areas of economics. It encourages young researchers to present and publish their work, it stimulates network activities amongst scholars and it facilitates the dissemination of new ideas. INFER organizes as well various events such as workshops and annual conferences. The quality of these events is guaranteed by a peer-review process of all submitted papers, by the lectures addressed by excellent keynotes speakers and by follow-up publication opportunities. For the year 2015, INFER decided to organize the 17th Annual Conference joint with the University of Bedfordshire in Luton.

The Faculty of Finance, Insurance Banking and Stock Exchange (FABBV) at the Bucharest University of Economic Studies continues a long tradition in providing education in finance to the future economists through Bachelor, Master and PhD programs. It also organizes The International Conference in Finance and Banking (FIBA) on annual basis. It encourages the participation of scholars and researchers who are interested in disseminating their work in the areas of insurance, corporate finance and investments, public finance, financial markets and institutions, macroeconomic stability and banking. It also provides follow-up publication opportunities. The conference in 2015 will take place in March in Bucharest and is organized jointly with the Romanian Association of Finance and Banking (RoFIBA), Center for Financial and Monetary Research (CEFIMO) and business partners. FABBV is also organizes a conference for young students enrolled within the bachelor and master programs. The papers presented at this conference are invited to be published within the Working Paper Series 'ABC-ul Lumii Financiare' addressed under and post-graduate students.

Romanian Journal of Fiscal Policy will continue its support in providing opportunities for publishing quality work of researchers participating at academic events. Moreover, the assistance granted by the experts from the Editorial Board, the external referees and the administrative staff during the submission and review process represents our most valuable work with the authors who benefit of quality expertise aimed at constantly improving their research. It is our belief that working close with the scholars, exploring their potential, understanding their ideas will have a relevant contribution in further expanding the knowledge.

Andreea Stoian

Department of Finance and CEFIMO, Bucharest University of Economic Studies

Executive Editor at the Romanian Journal of Fiscal Policy